Artist's Bio

Susan Chavez, educator, craftperson, visual artist, began creative expression owing to natural curiosity, an active imagination, and body and hands ceaselessly exploring and manipulating her environment. Primarily self taught, she has participated in art classes in New York and California, where she honed her techniques and exhibited her completed works. Susan's access to cameras and a variety of materials, mediums and tools, combined with her love of nature (including hiking and gardening, flower arranging), museums, exploration and travel, have provided inspiration for paintings. Her desire to create and complete projects has historically motivated her to expand the process of simply painting to include fabrication the stretcher, constructing, staining and framing that very same piece of art

From abstract to zoological, and everything in between, real or imagined, any subject is fair game. Preferring oils, she also works in pencil, ink, charcoal watercolor, acrylic and pastel. Susan's goal is for you to experience an emotional response to and be moved by her work. Enjoy the ride.

Susan was previously Program Chair of the Riverdale Art Association.

Susan is currently Vice President of the Riverdale Art Association.

Susan has exhibited in California, New York, Massachusetts and virtually,

A Matter of Perspective

This show was inspired by life experience and the diversity of wonders, ordinary and extraordinary encountered by the artist on a daily basis. Often viewed as mundane, the subjects of these works spark the passion and imagination of the artist and a desire to celebrate their uniqueness, color, joy.
